General Background Top 100	The University of Newcastle is a comprehensive, international university and one of Australia's leading research institutions. It operates on two main campuses in Newcastle (Callaghan) and the Central Coast (Ourimbah). Both campuses are set in natural bushland on the beautiful East coast of Australia. The University of Newcastle is ranked in the top 10 research Universities in Australia, and ranked in the top 100 Universities in the world for engineering/technology and computer sciences (Shanghai Jiao Tong University rankings 2007). The University offers extensive undergraduate and postgraduate programs including most of the professional degree programs such as Law, Architecture, Medicine, Engineering, Teaching, Surveying, Social Work, Science, and Nursing. As well, we offer a vast array of courses in disciplines such as Business, Economics, Computing, Fine Art, Modern Languages, Classics, History, Mathematics, Nutrition and Dietetics, Sociology and Anthropology, Philosophy, Communications, and Tourism and Hospitality, to name just a few.
Total Number of Students	The student population is just over 30,000 including some 6,000 international students from more than 80 countries studying both on and off-shore.

Class Enrolment and Registration	Enrolment information will be provided after the offer acceptance is received. Also, there will be enrolment sessions and assistance during Orientation Week (The week before commencing classes). The University of Newcastle has a very flexible enrolment system and all efforts are made to accommodate Study Abroad and Exchange students in their 'approved' classes. Before enrolling in classes, it is strongly recommended that students check the 'assumed knowledge' and 'course requisites' listed in the online undergraduate handbook. Students should have approval from their home institution before participating in any course. The standard workload is 40 units (4 courses) per semester . The minimum workload is 30 units (3 courses) per semester.

Γ	International Student Advisors	The University's International Student Support Team provides a range of welfare and support services, which are designed to give you access to information that will make your time at the university a rich and academically rewarding experience. The team also offers practical and personal support to students who find themselves in unfamiliar circumstances and who need local advice and help. Their contact email is international-support@newcastle.edu.au and more
	Disability Support	http://www.newcastle.edu.au/students/international/student-support/ The Disability Support Service offers practical assistance and advice to students with a permanent or temporary disability or medical condition. If students are experiencing difficulties with their studies due to the effects of their disability they can register with the Disability Support Service. Students must provide appropriate documentation and may be eligible for a range of support and assistance. For more info, visit http://www.newcastle.edu.au/service/disability/
-	Counselling Service	The Counselling Service is available to students free of charge, on a confidential basis at each of the campuses of the University of Newcastle. Counselling Service staff are available to clarify and resolve a range of issues, which might otherwise interfere with academic or personal effectiveness. For more info visit http://www.newcastle.edu.au/service/counselling/
	Student Visa	To study in Australia you will require a student visa. When you apply to study at the University of Newcastle and have been issued with a Letter of Offer, you need to 'Accept' the offer (Details will be provided in Letter of Offer). Once you have accepted the offer you will be issued by email, an electronic Confirmation of Enrolment (eCOE). This verifies to the Australian Department of Immigration and Citizenship (DIAC) that you are a legitimate student. To find out how to apply for a student visa, other visa options or have further visa enquiries, please visit: http://www.immi.gov.au/students/index.htm
